

WE NOMINATE

John Cobb Cooper, lawyer, educator, author and probably this country's leading authority on "space law," who at a time the world's imagination has been lighted by the throbbing successes of the Gemini Flights has raised a fundamental question: "Can the first nation to land men on the moon claim rights of possession and exclusive sovereignty over occupied areas?" Writing in the Winter Issue of "University," the thoughtfully edited quarterly published by Princeton University, this eminent 78-year old Princetonian stresses the importance of clarifying in the immediate future the legal problems arising from the exploration and "colonization" of outer space.

With space-faring man now standing on the threshold of a new age of exploration, it is Cooper's documented contention that existing United Nations resolutions bearing upon the exploration of the celestial bodies are vague and that there is no kind of formal agreement obligating Member States of the United Nations not to seek national advantages on the moon. He underscores the need for a treaty which would exempt the moon (and space) from the centuries-old worldwide principle that the nation effectively taking over stateless lands may acquire rights of territorial sovereignty and thereby gain political and important military assets.

Over the years Cooper, Florida-born and a resident of Princeton for some three decades, has been in the forefront of those coping with the legal complexities presented by man's lift-off into air and space. He was founder in 1951 and first director of the Institute of International Air Law at McGill University, Professor of Law at McGill and since 1958 Professor Emeritus of International Air Law. Five years ago in receiving an honorary doctoral degree from Princeton, he was cited in these terms: "Attorney to the air, brilliant barrister to the wild blue yonder, of him it may be said what John Donne remarked of Bishop Valentine: 'All the air is thy diocese'."

Largely responsible for the publication in 1959 of "Sources of our Liberties," a monumental work presenting in one usable volume the major legal sources for the Western World's tradition of individual liberties, Cooper in the late 1940's brought forth "The Right to Fly," a definitive study devoted to the body of law under which every sovereign nation has complete control of the air-space over its earthly holdings. Behind this latter work, published while Cooper was a member of The Institute for Advanced Study, stretched the years he had been a spokesman for the air-and-space age as Vice-President of Pan-American Airways and as Legal Adviser to the International Air Transport Association.

The son and grandson of Florida attorneys, and a high honor student in the Princeton Class of 1909, Cooper first became intrigued with "three-dimensional law" nearly a half-century ago as World War I commander of the Navy's Transatlantic Control Radio Station in Washington. An adviser to the United States Air Policy Board, and a frequent consultant to American delegations participating in international air conferences, he was the first recipient of the gold medal awarded by the International Institute of Space Law.

For his far-ranging understanding of all that is involved in the world's upward and outward expansion; for focussing attention on issues and areas of knowledge which must be carefully and prayerfully explored by the community of nations; for not permitting the advance of years to interfere with his own pioneering activities; he is our nominee as

BE A GODFATHER
New Group Forms. A man with a "sense of mission, a preacher, and a writer," has begun to enlist Princeton fathers in the joyful work he has carried on himself for almost 25 years.

The Adopted Goldfishers Association, formed this autumn in Princeton, grew out of the 12 boyhood years Bernie Weinstein lived in a Manhattan orphanage and the 25 manhood years he has spent being a godfather to every boy he would find who needed a father.

The Godfathers' plan is this: a man takes a bunch of boys and his own sons, and they all go bowling, maybe, or bike-riding. He takes them, not on a simple "do-good" expedition while he is full of the ephemeral spirit of Christmas, but on repeated occasions throughout the year, fair weather and foul, so that the boys come to count on him and look to him for genuine comradeship and support.

"They have to be boys without a father at home," Bernie emphasizes, and he points out that sometimes a father is legally and physically "at home" but in no way a real pillar of support and comradeship to his son.

Bernie himself takes about 10 boys to dinner and bowling each Saturday. The Rev. David Crawford, another Godfather, takes boys to his house for basketball skirmishes with the two Crawford sons.

Sometimes Bernie takes boys to the New York museums. He took eight kids to the Giants-Eagles football game in Palmer Stadium this summer. He takes them to concerts in McArthur.

"Uclet Bernie." Where do the boys come from? Bernie smiles. "Everybody knows me, and I never have any trouble finding boys who want the companionship of a father."

One boy, with a live father at home, went fearfully to Bernie when he was on the mat for an infraction of school regulations and it was Bernie who told him how to face up to his father and see the problem through.

A Princeton resident for 12 years, Bernie is the owner of Princeton Stationers, a tiny, quonset shop next to the First National Bank which has become almost a youth center for Princeton teenagers.

Nervous, tense, irritable as a juggernaut when he is doing home his idea, Bernie — nobody has ever been known to call him "Mr. Weinstein" and the boys often say "Uclet Bernie."

Bernie was enrolled in the Hebrew Orphan Asylum in New York City when he was 16. There lived there until he was 16.

"As practical experience, it was unteachable," he says wryly. "I can see in all these boys the exact mirror of the psychological problems I had as a kid, and I know what they need most: a close, confirming, affectionate relationship."

The Gift of Self. "The gift without the giver is bare," Bernie quotes, and this is a vital part of Godfathers. It's not a question of dipping into a well-lined pocket to give money to a kid who needs it. It's a question of establishing a rapport with a boy — or a group of boys — and bringing your own sons into the relationship so that there is a genuine dove-tailing, give and take.

Another important point is that Bernie "follows-up." "A father will take his own boy out one Saturday, and then forget him for six months," Bernie shrugs. "Lots of kids are deeply hurt by men who don't pay any more attention to them after the first outing. We don't want any 'here today, gone tomorrow's."

Although fathers without sons are welcome, Bernie prefers a father-son team and his own son, Larry, almost 13, is always a part of Bernie's godfathering activities.

"Human interest is the most important thing," is the way the Rev. Mr. Crawford puts it. "There is no substitute for 'being.' We all scramble around for substitutes, especially in stores at Christmas, but you can't buy affection."

It is the Rev. Mr. Crawford who characterizes Bernie as a man "with a sense of mission, a preacher and fighter." The two men met because the minister is a customer at the stationery store and a man with some concerns about human salvation himself.

Other Princeton Godfathers are Solomon Davidson, formerly a radio-dj, now a partner in Princeton Stationers; William Wilson, who drives a cab; Sherman Bates, Princeton business man; and two women: Mrs. Christine Holm, a nurse at N.J.P.H., and Mrs. Genevieve Harmon, of the "WAY" church fund-raising association.

Mrs. Holm and Mrs. Harmon are more or less ex-officio women are excluded from Godfathers because the whole point is to provide a father to boys who don't have one, and — continued on Page 2

"Needed: Encouragement and Understanding"

From the 1965 TOWN TOPICS Christmas Appeal

"A mother and father in their late 20's and their bewildered, wonderingly appealing, daughter, 6-year old Ann, are slowly becoming friends and are beginning to understand one another. Each morning Ann, bright and deeply sensitive, dreads going to school, for she is never sure one of her parents will be there when she comes home. With her father in the Armed Forces for the first five years of her life, and with her mother, holding a needed, full-time job, life for Ann has been a lonely, lonely round of silent, distant relations and homes in the neighborhood. A teacher sensed Ann's desolation, her craving for security, and arranged for a guidance program which must succeed, if a family is to be saved."

Gifts to the TOWN TOPICS Fund do provide Christmas in homes where there would otherwise be little holiday happiness, but the primary aim is to assure lasting assistance that means true rehabilitation. Princeton has assisted in this in other years, and so far in 1965 have contributed $2,500.75. It is never too late.

Contributions may be brought to TOWN TOPICS at 4 Mercer Street or mailed to P. O. Box 664. Checks should be made payable to The Town Topics Christmas Fund.

This Is Princeton

to relate them wholly to the men in the community.

Where's Dad? "Our group is not merely for boys involved in loss, but for orphaning their own home, boys who are nourished in one way, but deprived with another." The Rev. Mr. Crawford says, and Bernie adds his own account for fathers who are not right at more than one job and mothers who take a job and neglect their children, and who neglect their sons thereby.

Because of Bernie's own deep interest in Ronnie Brane, the salvage institution for boys near Far Hills, the first God-fathers' project this fall focuses on bikes for Ronnie Brane boys.

Through a classified ad in TOWN TOPICS, Bernie acquired 35 bikes. He repaired them, and with Sam Bahadur, took them to the Rev. Mr. Crawford and taught the boys to ride. He has also taken to Ronnie Brane 17 winter coats, transistor radios and Christmas lights.

And yet the word "project" is alien to Godfathers. Bernie is insistent that the relationships be consistent, not merely projects taken and dropped. However, at the moment, Bernie himself has a "project." He hopes to obtain permission from the state's Bureau of Children's Services to be so accredited that he can take boys out of Ronnie Brane for longer periods of time—week-ends, vacations and such. Bernie belongs to no church. His sister has become a Catholic and Bernie will take a Ronnie Brane boy to her home for the Christmas observance of Christmas Day. But he has his own Christian message. "You've got to be careful," he grins, "not to select the cute, appealing, little blond curly-haired. It's the big, angular guy maybe 16 years old, the one with so many problems that he strikes you as ugly—that's the one who really needs you."

SHUT-IN FUN

The Hospital's Christmas. A dozen or more children, confined in the pediatric department of the Princeton Hospital over Christmas, will receive presents from luckier boys and girls: Boy and Girl Scouts, Rainbow Girls and Junior Red Cross.

At "Merwick," the hospital's pediatric division, there will be entertainment provided by various school and civic organizations. Alex Young, program director, is in charge of "Merwick's" Christmas and Mrs. Grace C. Fry, director of social services, is co-ordinating the festivities at the hospital.

On Christmas Day, John W. Knuffman, hospital administrator, will observe his annual custom of visiting every patient with a greeting and a gift. He will be accompanied by Miss Jean Altus, head of nursing services; Nathaniel J. McKee, chief of general services; and George W. Conover, president of the board of trustees.

MME. CHIANG HERE

On Private Visit, Madame Chiang Kai-shek came to Princeton on Sunday for a reunion with "two very dear friends," former U. S. Senator and Mrs. H. Alexander Smith of Alexander Street.

The wife of Nationalist China's premier arrived in this country from Taiwan early in September on what she described as an unofficial visit. Since then she has been meeting privately with government, congressional and military leaders.

Although she has avoided public statements which might upset Washington officials, Mme. Chiang spoke freely to the press en route from Taiwan. Her main points were that the Chinese Nationalist forces are determined to return to China, that Red China nuclear potential should be thwarted and that Red China is the culprit in the Indo-Pakistan warfare.

TOPICS Of The Town

TO REVIEW ASSESSMENTS In Township. The yardstick of J.M. Clemmishaw Co. will be laid against Township property lines next month as the municipality begins a ten-month property revaluation project, the first overall revaluation since 1956. The Clemmishaw firm did the work then, too.

The $23,200 Clemmishaw fee will be financed by five-year notes, paid off at one-fifth each year.

"I suggest that such things as pretexts for outside loss or cramer influences be very carefully worked out before the actual assessment," said Henry J. Frank, 125 Valley Road, as Township Committee opened public hearing on the revaluation ordinance Monday night.

Dr. Frank also suggested the company hold a public hearing before the new assessments are sent out, and he said Clemmishaw should confer with local real estate agents and consider actual property sales in the last two or three years.

Stuart Robson, Township assessor, replied that there will be a preliminary meeting with realtors before figures are sent to taxpayers. "There has been a great improvement, a sophistication, in revaluation programs since 1956," Mr. Robson observed.

"Will whoever does the revaluation job defend all appeals?" asked Dr. Frank. Mr. Robson said yes, for one year. "Will they pay for the attorney," Dr. Frank persisted. Gordon Griffin, Township attorney, told Dr. Frank that Clemmishaw would provide expert witnesses, but not the attorney.

"If they provide the attorney, they'd make more decisions they'd be prepared to defend," Dr. Frank suggested. He had appealed his revaluation of 1956, but "I don't want to spend a lot of time and money fighting a property assessment," he said.

Committee member Russell Mount reminded Dr. Frank that the referee makes the final decision, not the revaluating firm.

As the Borough had done last week, the Township did this week voted approval of a new Joint Historic Sites Commission. The new Commission will consist of eight members, four each from Borough and Township, who will list and map sites, suggest whatever legal controls might be desirable and advise governing bodies.

Committee agreed to refund a street-opening fee of $341.75 to Brackett Yedin in return for a two-inch overlay on Riverside Drive from Nassau to Town's End Way this spring. Mr. Yedin's development is in the Borough, but his trucks are chewing up the Townships' Riverside Drive. Mr. Griffin and Mr. Yedin will work out the agreement together.

TOWER APPROVED

By Township Zoning Board. Princeton University last week obtained from the Township Zoning Board what it had previously failed to get from the Township Planning Board: permission to build its controversial, 13-story mathematics tower and physics building complex on Washington Road next to Palmer Stadium. The vote was 2 to 2.

To build its tower without setback variance, the University would have had to locate it 250 feet from Washington Road. Plans for the complex were drawn according to a proposed new zoning ordinance whose "yard to height" ratio would require only a 60-foot setback.

The huge, four-story physics building—slightly higher than Palmer Stadium—was also non-conforming. Under the proposed new ordinance, it was 13 feet too close to Washington Road, 103 feet instead of the required 110.

The University was able to convince zoning chairman Russell Van Cleave and members Harold B. Erdman and William J. Goddes that it was essential.

that it is allowed to place the lot lower as closely as possible to the nearby Palmer Laboratory Building and a "scientific core" which runs the heart of the campus. Included in this core is the Geology building and the astrophysics building now under construction opposite the entrance of Palmer Stadium.

James G. Campbell Jr. and Frederick Schluter cast negative votes, forcing chairman Van Cleave to cast the decisive vote, since the chairman never votes, unless there is a tie.

No one rose from the audience to speak out against the University's request. Hans K. Sander, Princeton architect and member of the Township Planning Board, said that he was surprised to learn that the Physics building was also non-conforming. The answer to his question of whether the relationship between the math and physics complex to the engineering quadrangle on Olden Street was within the 10-minute walking distance sought by the University was "yes."

Masonic Lodge Denied. In a second protracted appeal, Home 2464 attorney representing the Princeton Masonic Association, sought a variance from the board to permit construction of a masonic lodge on the corner of Irving and Route 206 90 feet from 206 and 400 feet from Irving Street. It was denied, 3 to 2.

The dissenting opinion, represented by Mr. Van Cleave, Mr. Goldes and Mr. Campbell, felt that the proposed lodge would add to the congested traffic conditions at the intersection and that a lodge of this type does not belong in a residential area. Information from the engineering department revealed that 55,000 vehicles travel Route 206 every week and a-

A White Christmas? Not too likely, the Man reports, although the weekend forecast does call for light precipitation before Sunday is gone. Now if it just comes a little early, and if it stays cold enough.

Another 17,000 use the intersection at Irving Street. The area is zoned R-2, limiting lots to 15 acres.

Many in the audience spoke out in protest. In answer to a question, chairman Van Cleave reported the board had received about 20 letters, most of them opposing the lodge. He said the main arguments of all were the area was already zoned for residential use; it would add to the traffic; the property was purchased after the present zoning laws went into effect; and the adjacent property owners would not benefit from the construction of such a building.

Mormon Church Approved. In a 4 to 1 decision, the board granted a special permit to the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) to construct a chapel on the Princeton Pike just beyond the Mercer Bridge near the intersection of Gallop Drive. Mr. Campbell cast the lone "no" vote.

To be built in two stages, with a wind comprising the final stage, the church would provide seating for 500 plus 150 Sunday school students. There would be parking for 150 cars. William M. Thompson, the architect, said the church was designed to be in scale with the residential area of the neighborhood and not dwarf any homes.

News Of The THEATRES

TRIANGLE TO REPEAT
"High Society" Again, New Year's Night — Saturday, January 1 — will be repeat night for the 1963 Triangle production, "High Society."
The revue will be given again "by popular demand" in McCarter Theatre at 9 p.m., and tickets for the performance are on sale now at the theatre's box-office.
All four performances were sold out when "High Society" played Princeton December 9, 10 and 11, and the extra performance has been added, not only to accommodate people who couldn't get tickets the first time round, but students who were not yet back in Princeton for the Christmas holidays.

"The brightest, gayest show in years," "High Society" has been polished by performances in 12 cities, including Boston, Washington, D. C., Chicago, Milwaukee, Indianapolis and New York. The cast will go on stage in Princeton after a New Year's Eve stint in Rochester.
The quote above is straight from TOWN TOPICS, the Daily Princetonian's said: "High Society" sings, sizzles and soars through an evening of immensely enjoyable satire: it bites, but not too deeply; it throws pies, but not too many; it reflects, but not very pompously."

SHAW, SELF-PORTRAIT
(Aided by Fletcher), Bernard Shaw as newspaperman, music critic, novelist, dramatic critic and finally as playwright will be presented to the McCarter Theatre audience on Saturday, January 8, at 8:30 when Bramwell Fletcher emerges from off-Broadway with his "Bernard Shaw Story."

words, Mr. Fletcher has created a theatrical portrait of the playwright, using the essays, play reviews, press interviews and letters that have displayed the Shavian wit to the world.

Bramwell Fletcher, a distinguished British actor, was alternate star to Rex Harrison during the New York run of "My Fair Lady," and portrayed Henry Higgins more than 200 times. It was during this period that he conceived the idea of his one man Shaw show.

HOW TO MAKE A PUPPET
Salzburg Kneus. A marionette's torso is not a single block of wood, but a series of hollow rings patterned after the proportions of the human body. Each puppet-head has its own custom-designed head joint or series of joints, so that it can perform as expressively as possible.
All this attention to detail is vital because a puppet, lacking the possibility of facial expression, must achieve as wide a range of bodily movements as possible.

The Salzburg marionettes, which will perform at McCarter Theatre Sunday, January 9, are individually constructed, with the design carefully planned in advance. Each of the joints forming the members of the body, can be operated by a special thread to give subtlety and suppleness to movement.
On January 9 at 1 p.m., the marionettes will perform "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and at 4 p.m., "The Nutcracker Suite Ballet," both for children. Adults are invited to the 8 p.m. performance of Mozart's opera, "The Magic Flute."

DANCERS' SINGERS!
Romanians Coming. Romanians coming, 90 of them with a choir of folk singers and a 31-piece orchestra, will bound onto McCarter's stage Wednesday, January 26 in a bonus program added to McCarter's January Jubilee.

"The Rumanian Folk Ballet is the largest company in McCarter's history," almost equal in size to the company that gave "Showboat" two legs ago.
The company from Bucharest will be making its first American tour this winter, and the Princeton appearance will occur just before an engagement in New York's City Center — Continued on Page 2

PLAYHOUSE

The Great Race (now playing) Nothing is to be taken seriously in this wild and wonderful comedy. Tony Curtis in a storybook home, so zany that it hurts. Jack Lemmon in the blackest villain ever foisted on celluloid, and Natalie Wood is a bon-bon of a heroine who is the loving clear-chomping surrogate you ever did see.

The story concerns a turn-of-the-century automobile race westward from New York to Paris between the Great Leslie (Curtis) and Professor Fate, played by Lemmon at the top of his voice. The pair are followed by Maggie DuBois (Natalie Wood), determined to report the race for her newspaper. A prize town welcome for the racers turns into a dog-eat-dog race, the cars are marooned in the desert, and the maddest continues at a greater pace.

Kenneth Wynne is the Great Leslie's equally poor assistant. Peter Falk is unforgettable as the Professor's stooge. The film includes the most fantastic pie-throwing scene in screen history, a duel right in the "Promoter of Zenda" automobiles with as much personality as their owners. "The Great Race" is a wild and wonderful smash. (Running time 2 hrs. with intermission.)

GARDEN

Pinocchio in Outer Space (now playing). Youngsters and even some adults will take this latest version of Pinocchio to their hearts with its cute story, melodious tunes and delightful use of color.

Pinocchio, once turned into a real boy by the good fairy, became so obnoxious that she had to reverse the process and turn him back into a wooden puppet. He's a sorry figure, hoping to regain his status as a boy. He wishes he could recapture "Astro," the orbiting whale who is playing havoc with the space programs of many countries. He trades his lunch money for a book on hypnosis and takes a space ship to a part of the planet where he encounters hair-raising adventures.

PRINCE

Boeing-Boeing (now playing). Jerry Lewis debuts in this film in a new role, that of a sophisticated con man, showing a new and welcome control in his intelligent, restrained comedy performance. The thrice-re-

For School Boards

Contests in Borough and Township shared up this week as the December 30 deadline for filing school board petitions drew closer.

Dr. Elmer Hornighausen announced that he will not run for another term on the Borough School Board. He has served for 21 years. Petitions have been filed by Dr. Robert Lively, for re-election, and by Mrs. Arthur Wagner, for a first term. The S.O.S. "Serve Our Schools" slate has not been formally announced but it is understood to include Dr. Alfred Cook, Mrs. Kathy Edwards and Stuart Carothers.

In the Township, four candidates will seek three seats on the Board. Bailey, who was chairman of the Citizens' Advisory Committee for Township Schools, and Joseph Bachelder, a member of the new Township High Citizens' committee, will both run. George Grace and Charles Jaffin will seek re-election. Mrs. Jess Epstein will not run for another term.

THEFT REPORT

Christmas Trees Taken. The spirit of Christmas has not yet entered the thief who cut down and stole two Christmas trees Saturday from Marquand Park. Police, who received word of the theft from Mrs. Harold K. Hochschild, 150 Stockton Street, said both measured between six and eight feet.

University police reported the theft Monday of 200 pounds of copper roofing worth $75 from the site of the Pyne Administration Building which is in the process of receiving a new roof. A foreman for the William C. Elert construction company, one of the contractors for the Astrophysics building near Palmer Stadium, told police that wheels from three wheelbarrows were taken during the weekend.

A Trenton physician, Dr. Gerhard Puchner, reported on Thursday the theft of a tuxedo and 14 or 15 white shirts from his car parked in the yard at John and Mulish. He placed a value of $150 on all the items. Police said there was no sign of forced entry.

There were two small acts of vandalism. Robert Bucari, Graduate College, lost the radio antenna and side view mirror of his car to vandals. He told police it had been parked in the Engineering Quadrangle Yard on Friday evening at the time of the theft.

Early last week Thomas Melloy, 151 Hamilton Avenue, found the air had been let out of all four tires of his car, parked on Cleveland Lane near Bayard. It was 2 p.m. when Mr. Melloy discovered the prank.

LAHIERE'S CAN EXPAND. Permission to expand its Witherpoon Street restaurant, adding the 74 off-street parking spaces required for the additional square footage was granted. Lahiere's

Tuesday night by the Borough Zoning Board. The vote was 4 to 1, with Albert Hudd dissenting.
Majority opinion felt that existing off-street parking facilities in the area, heavily used by day, would be relatively free during evenings and weekends.
Expanded its dining and banquet facilities in an area recently occupied by three adjacent businesses, with a bakery going into a portion of the new building.

CRASH IS FATAL

To Pennington Woman. A Pennington woman was killed shortly after 4 Sunday morning in a fiery crash involving a truck on the New Jersey Turnpike, near the Bordentown interchange.
Dead is Miss Margaret Hulings, 88, of 71 Dublin Road, Pennington. Also killed in the mishap was Robert W. Wemmer, 67, of Trenton. Miss Hulings' former husband.

Both were killed when a tractor-trailer rammed into the rear of Mr. Wemmer's car which reportedly stopped in a neighborhood lane. The impact forced the car into a guard rail, rupturing its gasoline tank which ignited. The truck overturned, but its driver declined medical attention for minor injuries.

Also injured was a soldier who was believed to have hitch-hiked a ride in the Wemmer car. Taken to the Fort Dix Hospital, Pfc. Samuel D. Dornhoefer, 19, of Erie, Pa. is in fair condition.

The bodies of Miss Hulings and Mr. Wemmer were taken from the burning car. A coroner reported that although Miss Hulings had suffered burns, both had died in the crash State Troopers are investigating the tragedy.

Borough Crash. In the Borough on Sunday, Stanley A. Bialezak, 46, of Trenton, complained of back pain but refused medical attention, following the collision of his car with another at the intersection of Stockton Street and Library Place. Time of the crash was 7:42 a.m.

Fund Reaches 94%
A total of $360,400, or 94% of the $423,420, has been raised by the United Fund Red Cross campaign, according to Alan Frank, drive chairman.
With the goal only $27,000 away, all volunteer solicitors and campaign leaders are making a special effort to achieve the community's sixth successful campaign in as many years. Non-contributors are urged to consider making a gift by mail to the United Fund-Red Cross Campaign, Box 201, Princeton, Mr. Frank said.

The communities of Princeton, Hightstown, West Windsor, Cranbury, Plainsboro, Montgomery Township and Rocky Hill need 100% services in 1966, and the United Fund-Red Cross campaign must not fail.

ion of Stockton Street and Library Place. Time of the crash was 7:42 a.m.
Pvt. William Hunter, killed the second driver, Malcolm Mair, 50, of The Great Road, for failing to observe a stop sign. According to the officer's report, Mr. Mair, after stopping at Library Place, proceeded into the intersection and struck the Bialezak car on the left side. The impact forced the latter into a Public Service lane.

Last Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Nancy Garcia, 29, 95 Linden Lane, was slightly injured in a crash on Harrison Street at the south entrance to the Princeton Shopping Center. She received lacerations of both eyelids and the right eye.

Her Volkswagen was hit by a car operated by Don H. Sherwood, 19, of Plainsboro. Mr. Sherwood told police as he was exiting the shopping center, his view to the left had been blocked by a truck. There were no charges.

BUDGET INTRODUCED

For Township Schools. A budget $2,704,413 was adopted Thursday by the Township School Board with public hearing scheduled for January 29. An explanation of the budget will go out to Township taxpayers before the hearing, probably in the forthcoming issue of "Chalk Dust," the school news. The budget provides $2,402,681 for current expenses, $17,434 capital outlay and $224,298 debt service. It is $480,000 more than the current budget.

The board is still not ready to announce a site for the proposed new Township High II. It received a letter announcing the unanimous decision of the Valley Road Community Park school district to support wholeheartedly the board's decision to build a high school. Valley Road children, in junior high this year, will attend Princeton High youngsters in the lower grades would go to the new high school.

An official formal resolution announcing that the school board is committed to building a Township High School was unanimously passed. The board had not previously made any formal, legal commitment.

"HELLO, SANTA"

Calls Keep Coming. Santa Claus will be at the telephone right up through Christmas Eve to hear the Christmas wishes of children in the Princeton community. His number is 924-2882, and the calling hours are from 1 to 3 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Princeton's Santa, Henry Schmitt, 80 years of age, will be honored by the Princeton Scrotopist Club at a dinner at 6:30 on Tuesday in the Princeton Inn. He will tell about his 15 years as Santa Claus.

His Christmas tale has been sponsored from the start by the Woman's Club of Princeton. Mrs. T. Robin Weber, chairman of this year's committee.

HELP FOR NEGROES

Benefit Dance Planned. The Trenton Chapter, Jack and Jill of America, will hold a benefit dinner dance Sunday from 6 to 11 at the Nassau Inn. Jack and Jill is a national organization of 5,000 mothers whose purpose is to encourage children to use their spare time for self-improvement.

Proceeds from the Christmas dance will go to the N.A.A.C.P. Legal Defense and Educational Fund, a non-profit, inter-racial fund whose money is used to pay the legal expenses of anyone whose constitutional rights are in jeopardy.

Music for the benefit dance will be furnished by the Bu-Pleasant Trio of Englewood. Contributions are $15 per couple. Those interested in attending should call Mrs. Barbara Hobbs, 695-5810 or Mrs. C. D. Martin, 924-9076.

CLASSES RE-SCHEDULED

At Studio-on-Canal. Because of the illness of Rex Gorce, art classes at the Studio-on-Canal, scheduled to begin early in January, will be re-scheduled at a later date.

The re-scheduled classes include the Monday night adult painting class and the Saturday morning ceramics class for children. Inquiries may be made of Mrs. Joan Shepherd, 921-2982.

ALWAYS SOME CONFLICT: The chances at this Christmas of ever attaining a lasting peace are not good in the opinion of Miss Kathleen Maguire, who feels there is always going to be some sort of conflict between peoples of the world. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Christmas is a time of peace on earth. As conditions are now, what do you think are the chances of attaining a lasting peace?

Where asked: Palmer Square
Miss Kathleen Maguire, 266 Hawthorne Avenue, student at Princeton Hospital. I don't think the chances are very good because there is never going to be agreement between all the peoples of the world. Not everybody feels or thinks the same. There is always going to be some sort of conflict.

Miss Rosalind Rakos, Yardley, Pa., employee, Firestone Library. I don't feel there is a possibility of having everlasting peace because man is not basically peace-loving. The future of man is full of differences of opinion and carrying this to a larger scale—differences of policies. We will always have to contend with nationalism.

Russell Jolly, Crutcher Road, Hopewell, eastern Pa., director for radio and television. Church Presbyterian Church. Off hand, I'd say we haven't changed much in the history of man, but I'm optimistic. I think man is gradually improving and heading in that direction. Were it not for Christmas, though, and the birth of Christ, this hope would be dim indeed. You hear a lot about keeping Christ in Christmas—we need not fear. He's there. The question is, where are we?

Mrs. Madeline T. Archambault, Franklin Park, librarian for Management Planning, Inc. 192 Nassau: Well, I always say miracles were performed here. Perhaps this Christmas will bring another miracle.

L. D. Reynolds, 42 Einstein Drive, teacher, Princeton University. Reasonable. I'm not very optimistic. I think chances for a lasting peace are reasonable at best. National differences are not easily rooted out, and nationalism seems to be increasing rather than decreasing.

Mrs. Carl Schultz, Westminster Choir College, student. I'm a good one to ask; my husband is in Southeast Asia. I don't think there will ever be a lasting peace on earth. According to the Bible, there will always be war until the end of time. But I think there can be peace among people without the extravagant fighting we have now such as in Southeast Asia.

Russell Merce, Belle Mead, caretaker. This lasting peace, we're talking about, I don't think we'll get that very soon. The Administration is not going about it in the proper way to get it solved, in my opinion. I don't think it will come to the dropping of atomic bombs and annihilation but I do feel we will continue to have minor wars, as we are now, for a long time to come.

Lewis Mac Adams Jr., Foulke Hall, University senior. My theory is that as man becomes more and more involved with the exploration of space, the absurdity of fighting on earth may possibly dawn on him. I think if people in outer space were watching our space ship, they would be appalled that it had "United States" on it rather than "Earth."

Mrs. William Wallace, 317 Mount Lucas Road, housewife. I'm very hopeful but the current situation in Viet Nam makes it seem somewhat unlikely.

Mrs. C. N. Walker, Carter Road, housewife. I'm a very optimistic person. I think the chances are very good. As long as there is a good Lord in heaven, I feel we will eventually have peace.

William J. Baker, Lakeview Terrace, salesman. "I really don't think we will reach a lasting peace until we straighten out the situation in Asia and Viet Nam, and unfortunately, it is my contention that we will not get that solved until we have a war. Certainly, it doesn't look as if the world situation has gotten any better in the last 25 years."

Cecil White, 206 Center, teacher. My opinion is that the chances for a lasting peace are probably good now as they will ever be. I believe the actions of the United States in the world are contributing to peace rather than distracting from it.

Flurence Metcalf, 215 Hale Street, Pennington, associated with Gallup Poll. I don't think they are very good for a while. It will be a long time before we attain lasting peace. I believe communism has a much stronger hold than we realize and that this is going to cause ferment in the world for a long time to come.

Philip Osborne, Millstone River Apartments, counsel for Management Planning, Inc. I would say chances are things will continue as they are now. There probably hasn't been any period in history when war hasn't been going on in some area of the world. I'm not too optimistic. I feel it's essentially a matter of improving human nature and I'm not sure that would happen very rapidly.

Fields, Bowser, Allentown food service employee, Princeton University. I think the chances of attaining peace are pretty good but I also feel war is never going to cease as long as the world exists. The Bible speaks of going to war and rumors of war forever. You see it today. So against father, mother, against son, I think peace can exist between one person and another but not between nation and nation.

Robert Cucca, 111 Lindero Lane, graduate student, economist. I don't think it will happen soon, not in the immediate future, but in the long run we will have to find ways to live in peace. I would say it is possible to attain world peace in the next 20 to 30 years. I think it will have to come in this century.

A. C. Waldron, Sumner, analytical chemist, American Cyanamid. I would say chances of a lasting peace would be possible only if man can learn to love his fellow man and get along with one another. I don't think present conditions have any bearing on whether there will be a lasting peace.

He is the director of the satellites division of the National Center for Space Studies (CNES), which is the French counterpart of NASA.

The French scientist came to Princeton in 1960 when he founded the "Phoeloelectric Department" of ASCOP division (now Princeton division) of Electro-Mechanic Research. He returned to France in 1962 to assume his present job in the French space program.

His wife Francoise taught French at Douglass College and the Princeton Adult School when he was here, and his three daughters, Isabelle, Nancy and Sylvia, attended area schools. He now lives in Chateau - Malibu, Seine near Paris, 3 rue du Professor Einstein.

Charles Pemberton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Pemberton, Lincoln Highway, was named to the second team of the All-American State Conference football squad at his halfback position. While playing for Los Angeles City College, the Princeton High School graduate was the league's leading rusher with a 5.7 yards-per-carry average.

Gerald E. Herzog of 40 Linwood Circle has been elected to the honorary grade of Fellow by the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers. A member of the technical staff of the computer research laboratory at RCA's David Sarnoff Center, he is engaged in research in solid-state electronics related to television and high-speed computing systems. His work has won him three RCA awards and an RCA Fellowship at Cambridge University, England.

SPORTS In Princeton

A FAMILY STORY
Big Ten for the Harlowes.
It is a rare occasion when an intercollegiate athletic contest is scheduled because it would mean a great deal to one man but the Illinois-Princeton basketball game played Saturday night before some 6,000 in Chicago Stadium had such a big line.

Bill Harlow, who handle the administrative duties involved with basketball official-ing for the Big Ten Conference, is the man. His three sons all came to Princeton and are all good basketball players.
It seemed a sports natural when the 1963-64 schedule was being arranged to have the Tiger team on which two of his boys would be members meet a Big Ten opponent in their home state of Illinois.

Christmas came early this year to the Harlow family of Hinsdale, Ill. A fine second half rally gave Princeton an 84-81 victory Saturday over the Big Ten opponent and the basketball-playing Illinois brothers combined for 30 points to help make it possible.
Fascinatingly, there was an added touch for the home folk in Hinsdale. Bill Koch, a Princeton Junior whose home is there also, came off the bench to play far and away his best game in a Tiger uniform.
His 12 points gave this Hins-dale trio a total of 42—exactly half of Princeton's total.

It was a Ding-Dong Affair. If it was not the best basketball of which an Ivy and a Big Ten team are capable, it was none the less exciting. The score was tied a dozen times, the lead changed hands almost as often and in the closing minutes, the losers kept whittling away at a 12-point margin in a manner that held the interest down to the final buzzer.

The Tigers took a quick 7-1 advantage, were caught at 16-all, trailed by as much as 30 to 24 but then crept closer to 30-27 at half-time. Illinois again moved out by six 37-31 in the early going of the final round but John Harlow's field goal evened the count at 39-all at the second inter. Bob Harlow connected to put Princeton in front once more.

The see-saw continued to give momentary advantages to both teams, which were tied again 56-56 and then 60-60 before the latter deadlock. The last With six minutes to go, Koch pronounced "oak" converted in a one-and-one situation and shortly thereafter made with free throws when fouled while shooting.

Bob Harlow, rested periodically because of a recent ankle prison, returned to action and he surge was on Sophomore Dave Lawyer sank a pair of free throws. Don Roderbach made good on successive pass shots from the circle and when Bob Harlow turned the drive with a layup, it was Princeton 12, Illinois 60.

The Bench Was. There, in his final three minutes, the Illini outscored the victors, 11 to 12. The Tigers dragging a freeze that might have made the final margin somewhat more secure. For four of the in the early action, Gary Walters returned in the closing minutes to sink five free throws that helped nail down the decision.

Princeton won because four of its reserves came off the bench to give the best combined performance by a quarter of substitutes in win-nery. John Harlow's 19 points—18 in the second half; 12 for Lawyer and 12 for Koch provided a 44-point total that would leave any coach talking happily to himself.
Junior Larry Lucchini was held to one but gave a fine performance in taking over for Walters for a good half of the contest.

Both the Tiger's big men on the starting quintet ran into trouble early. Robby Brown was benched with five in the first 18 minutes of play, the fastest departure from action this department can recall in watching 35 years of the sport at Princeton. He was held to a lone field goal, while Ed Hummer—who collected four fouls in the first half stayed around long enough to make eight points.

Roderbach with 14 joined John Harlow, Lawyer and Koch in double figures. The victory was Princeton's first over Illinois, after three defeats in the previous meetings, between the two teams.

North Carolina at Greensboro is the next game on the Princeton schedule, Monday night. Next evening, the Tigers will partake in the Holiday Invitational Tournament at Charlotte, N.C. in which Navy, Mississippi State and Davidson are entered.
Princeton has drawn Mississippi State in the opening round, with winners and losers playing Wednesday night.
There is reason to believe in a Princeton-Davidson meeting for the tournament championship, but a Tiger triumph in that one would be a major upset.

Orange and black had a chance to tie it up until the final buzzer. Ritchie brought the Tigers even at the one-minute mark of the opening round and they were no worse than 4-3 when the second period ended.

Providence raised its margin to 5-3 at 5:13 of the final session. Ritchie's second goal of the night again narrowing the gap with nine minutes left. No one, however, scored hereafter, but the Tigers had the satisfaction of outshooting the Friars for the game, 44 to 37.

Mac Morris and Terry Peterman scored the other Princeton goals, Peterman also being credited with three assists. The line on which he and Ritchie skate with Mike Spence provides the Tigers with their best balance and much of their scoring.

PIS VS. LONG BRANCH

After a loss to Trenton, the lack of trying to preserve an unbeaten record can weigh heavily on a team. Such a burden was removed from the shoulders of the Princeton High basketball team Friday by Trenton which handed the Little Tigers their first loss in four games. The final outcome was a convincing 72 to 56 margin.

Now coach Tony Bornick's squad must content itself with other honors. The first it can grab will occur Tuesday night at the huge Asbury Park High School gym where the first round of the Asbury Park Round Robin Tournament will be played.

It is the Little Tigers to win if they can defeat Long Branch, victor over Red Bank in the first round. PHS gained the final level by upsetting Asbury Park two weeks ago, 77 to 62, in its best game of the season so far. A year ago in the consolation round of this same tourney, Princeton smothered Long Branch, 112 to 69.

Played here, the battle with Trenton High, the first in six years, between the two, ended in disappointment for the Little Tigers. It would be easy to say that Trenton showed that it had not slipped as much as had been reported and that PHS is not them team that its early 3-0 record would indicate. Easy, but not wholly accurate.

A more accurate assessment would be that while Trenton nearly deserved to win, it gave evidence it can be defeated and that Princeton played more poorly than expected. Thus the disquieting east and the Rhode Island skaters, like any good outfit, are tough to beat at home.

Second period goals by John Ritchie and Bert Bruzer enabled Princeton to leave the ice at the end of that round in the heady atmosphere of a 2-2 tie with B.C. Steve Cook assisted on both the tallies.

As in the Boston University game here, however, B.C. had the unleashed power to break away from the deadlock. Exactly as B.U. had, the Eagles precipitated a four-goal outburst, to put victory beyond Princeton's reach. The shot total gave 26 to the Tigers and 43 to the victors.

A goal in the first seven seconds sent Providence on the following night, although the Aftermath attached to the contest. Trenton can be beaten and PIIS missed badly in its first chance. It will get a second, February 8 at Trenton. For PIIS, the story continues to be Wilbur "Scratchy" Hines. Borok summed it up after the game saying, "Scratchy played his heart out but it wasn't enough."

Hines Gets 23. Hines scored 23 points, high in the contest, with 11 coming in the final quarter. His 22-point average in four games is a shade more than a third of the 61-point team average. As one spectator shouted near the end of the game, "Trenton may win but nobody can beat our Scratchy."

The first period ended 10 to 6, with Hines accounting for half of Princeton's eight points. The Little Tigers were getting off as many shots as their taller opponents but the shooting was too off.

At the start of the second quarter, a bucket by Lyons and another by Hines tied it at 12-12. As late as 4:07 to go in the half, PIIS trailed by one, 18-17. Then the game was irretrievably lost when THIS scored 12 in a row to take a commanding 33-18 margin. The home team sprang once thereafter. At the start of the final period, a long one by McEwen, a one-handed push by Hines, another long one by McEwen by Richi Kahn, Volz and two more by Hines carried PIIS to within 13, 54 to 41 with 5:37 to go. Two minutes later, however, THIS went out in front again by 20, 63-43.

"Too Big For Us." PIIS lost primarily on two counts. Its shooting was way off and the taller Tornadoes were more effective under the boards, taking two, three shots at a clip and scoring on tape. They were just too big for us," commented Borok.

In this respect, the Tornadoes were aided most by 6-4 Jim Coleman. But the biggest thorn in the Little Tigers' paw proved to be the smallest Trenton player, Billy Kahn, a junior who gave notice of entering as one of the finest basketball players in the area, hit on 11 shots from the floor. A one point he tallied 12 consecutive points for his team.

Borok cleared his bench in an attempt to come up with a cohesive unit. In all, 12 players saw action. That he had to experiment so frequently is evidence that Borok is still short of finding that all-important five who can work together as one. Hines in trying to carry the offensive burden of the team, shoots more than he would like to.

Near the end of the game Borok shook his head and said, "We're going to have to start all over again."

Trailing Hines in scoring were Bill McQuide with eight six in the fourth period and Ed McEwen and Richi Volz with six each. It marked the first time this season Ed has fallen below double figures. Volz, six were his first points of the season.

ETS TOPS FILM CENTER
To Take First Place. In a battle between the two undefeated teams in the YMCA Basketball League last week at the Princeton High gym, ETS defeated Film Center, 54 to 43. The setback dropped the losers into a tie for second place with Western Electric.

Accurate shooting from outside by Clarence Gilbert was the heart of the ETS attack. Gilbert finished with a game high total of 22 points. John Smithson had 15 for Film Center.

In the second game, Van Nostrand, trailing at the half, came on to open winless RCA in the final period, 54 to 46. Dave Gallagher and Joe O'Gorman combined for 25 Van Nostrand points. Gallagher collecting 13, while Jim Clark accounted for more than half of the losers' total at 24 points.

Western Electric had little trouble with Princeton. Split in the third contest, winning 54 to 23. Poor court play and

Obituaries

Dr. George W. Eiderkin, 86, emeritus professor of art and archaeology at Princeton University, died on December 19 in a Venice, Fla., nursing home.

A native of Chicago, Dr. Eiderkin was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1902 and received a doctorate from Johns Hopkins University in 1906. He taught at the American School of Classical Studies in Athens for four years, and joined the Princeton faculty in 1910 as one of the first members of the art and archaeology department. Widely regarded as an authority on Hellenistic art, he headed in 1932 an expedition that began the excavation of Antioch, Turkey, which uncovered a mosaic floor containing panels depicting ancient Greek deities. The find was described as "one of the finest series of pictures which antiquity left us."

In 1924, Dr. Eiderkin wrote "Kantharos," a study of early religions in which he proposed that the Jehovah of the Old Testament and the Jove of the Greeks were originally the same God figure.

After retiring in 1948, he continued writing, publishing in 1954 "The Roman Catholic Problem," which he described as a "challenge to the authoritarianism of the Vatican." Four years later, the book was characterized as blasphemous to the Roman Catholic chaplain at Princeton, the Rev. Hugh Hutton, who was later removed from his post after similar attacks on the university's faculty and policies.

Surviving are two sons, George W. Eiderkin Jr. and John Eiderkin, a daughter, Mrs. Janet Arzon of Huntington, L.I., a brother, the Rev. Noble Eiderkin and eight grandchildren.

Raymond P. Cortelyou, 36, died on December 17 at his home on the King's Grant Farm, Hopewell. He was the husband of Mrs. Catherine E. Cortelyou.

National director of distribution for Lithonia Lighting Co. of Atlanta, Ga., Mr. Cortelyou was born in Princeton, attended the Borough schools and was graduated from Rider College in 1952. He taught post-graduate courses in management at the University of Houston, Texas.

He was associated with the Maxwell House Division of General Foods Corp. from 1954 to 1963. He lived in Hopewell and in Atlantic, spending much of his time there with his business.

Mr. Cortelyou was a member and deacon of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, a leader in Boy Scout and YMCA activities and had served with the New Jersey and Texas National Guard.

Also surviving are his mother, Mrs. Raymond V. Cortelyou of Princeton; three brothers, Dr. Thomas P. Cortelyou of Hopewell, Robert V. Cortelyou of Scotia, N. Y., and the Rev. James U. Cortelyou of Newark; and two sisters, Mrs. Marjorie Allen of Rocky Hill and Mrs. Priscilla Little of New Haven, Conn.

But also time for reflection on things past and things yet to come.

We thank our friends, patrons and fellow brokers for helping to make 1965 a year of accomplishment. And we look forward with pleasure to serving the Princeton community with even greater efforts in the coming year.

We one and all wish you and yours
a wonderful Holiday Season and A Happy New Year.
